PrintIQ set to sponsor Americas Print Show

Columbus, Ohio – July 21, 2022 - PrintIQ has announced it will be sponsoring the Americas Print Show (APS22), an exciting three-day industry event focused on building connections and growth in the print and graphics community.

Taking place August 17-19th at the award-winning Greater Columbus Convention Center, APS22 will bring together regional and national associations representing more than 5,000 companies, along with commercial printers, screen and garment producers, large format and sign printers, binderies, graphic finishers, and industry suppliers.

“Americas Print Show is an excellent opportunity to showcase our new technology and give hope about what possibilities lie ahead for businesses across America,” says Linda Pollard, Sales Manager of printIQ. “As businesses across America experience supply chain and labor shortages, the show provides a unique opportunity for companies to discover how printIQ has pivoted to improve supply chain management and automate key business functions.”

Unlike other trade shows, APS22 is all about people and the complex issues facing our industry. Expect to engage in thoughtful and solutions-focused conversations around workforce development, education, training, and identifying tomorrow’s skilled and successful employees.

“America’s Print Show is proud to feature printIQ as an exhibitor and sponsor showcasing their latest innovations at our inaugural event,” says Jim Cunningham, President of Americas Print Show. “Their technology is designed to streamline the printing process and help businesses operate more efficiently. We’re excited for the industry professionals from across the country who will attend this year’s show and have a chance to see how printIQ can help improve their businesses.”

Attendance is completely FREE to visit the show floor and participate in the educational sessions and the many other community-building events scheduled throughout our three-day event. Stipends are available for high school and college students to attend our Workforce Development activities.
